

Do I need to get my child tested if they have symptoms of Coronavirus (COVID-19)?

Back to school advice for parents

We would encourage all parents with children that have symptoms of Coronavirus (COVID-19) to have them tested.

If your child or anyone within the same household has symptoms of Coronavirus (COVID-19), they must not come into their school or childcare setting.

I'm concerned about my child returning to school in September

Back to school advice for parents

Our staff are experienced and prepared working under the new conditions as many schools in Barnsley were open throughout the pandemic.

We would like to reassure all parents that risk assessments and plans have been implemented before schools reopen and that staff are ready to safely welcome your child back in September.

My child's symptoms are only mild, can I still send them to school?

Back to school advice for parents

Children are just as likely to become infected with coronavirus (COVID-19) as adults however the infection is usually mild in comparison.

Even if your child's symptoms are mild, please do not send them to school or any childcare setting.

My child has symptoms or has tested positive for Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Back to school advice for parents

Any child with Coronavirus (COVID-19) symptoms or who has tested positive must not attend school, instead they must stay at home for the next ten days or until they get a negative test.

My child feels unwell, how do I know if they can attend school or not?

Back to school advice for parents

If your child is experiencing any of the following symptoms please do not send them to school.

- high temperature
- new continuous cough
- a loss or change of taste or sense of smell
